The first strawberries of the present season of the home supply were marketed here on last Saturday when several local growers had them for sale. The crop is very promising just now and all indications point to a large yield. There are a number of growers of the berries for market near this city and they are busy picking and marketing the crop.

T. B. King of Shelby county who announced his candidacy for congress from this district some weeks ago withdrew from the race last week, giving as his reason the press of other matters which made it impossible for him to wage an active campaign for the nomination. This leaves no candidate now in the field except Hubert Fisher, tho there are rumors of others entering the race.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fitch

Recent rains in this section have done lots of good to gardens and farm crops. The ground had gotten very dry and that which had not been broken was getting hard and when broken was cloddy. It has been too wet for any plowing since the rains except breaking. Cotton is said to be coming up well, tho the cold weather since the rains has been somewhat against it.

L. C. Brittain has arranged to give instruction in cotton classing to any who want to study that work in this vicinity and has arranged to have his rooms for instruction in the Henley building, the room formerly used as an overall factory. He has had years of experience in the cotton business and has gone into this work at the solicitation of parties here who desire to study the grading etc. of cotton.

Announcement is made this week of the dissolution of the insurance firm of Summers & Dickinson which entered the insurance field in this city last winter. R. V. Dickinson, formerly of that firm, retires to accept a position with Wagner Grocer Co. of Memphis, and Prof. J. B. Summers assumes the obligations of the firm and will continue the insurance business here.

There are still many references to what was seen on the farm inspection trip last week when one talks to those who went. They are unanimous in the opinion that the plots of clovers, grasses, and fine stock seen, are far superior to any thing ever looked for in this county—a mark of splendid progress by the farmers who are trying for better things.
